Description of the Event:

The During our visit, we had the privilege of exploring the dynamic ecosystem of CCamp, which proved to be a resounding success for our club, igniting inspiration and fostering fruitful collaborations. From engaging discussions to hands-on experiences, every moment was enriching as we delved into the intricacies of biotechnology.

Led by our curiosity, a group of 30 of us embarked on a comprehensive tour of CCamp's sprawling 4.5+ acre campus. We had the opportunity to visit various labs, equipment centers, and clean rooms, gaining firsthand insights into the cutting-edge research and development activities taking place.

One of the highlights of our visit was the chance to meet Mr. Jitesh Doshi, the spokesperson from our previous event, whose startup, Peptris, is housed within CCamp. We learned about their groundbreaking work in pre-clinical AI-based drug discovery, which aims to revolutionize the field while cutting down on time and expenses.

Moreover, we were enlightened about the diverse range of startups housed at CCamp, spanning sectors such as agriculture, life sciences, healthcare, and the environment. CCamp serves as a technical incubator and bio-innovation hub, bridging the gap between academic institutions and industries. They provide crucial support through funding, incubation, mentoring, and organizing events and competitions like NBEC and SIIP.

Through our interactions and briefings at CCamp, we gained a deeper understanding of how students from various technical backgrounds can contribute to the world of biotech. We realized that there is always room for improvement and learning, and CCamp serves as a beacon of innovation and collaboration in the biotechnology landscape.
