A MONTHLY NEWSPAPER FOR THE STUDENTS AND BY THE STUDENTS

Bangalore, January 2019

CMM/BHE/DECL/NPP - 230 / 10 / 2033

FIESTA DE HORIZON

It was a fun filled day. All the students from grade 1 to 10 were super excited for the annual school carnival. After days of preparation and a lot of hard work the day had finally arrived. It started from 9.30 in the morning and continued till 6.00 pm in the evening. There were many game stalls put up by the teachers as well as the students. There were many other stalls which included the Karaoke stall, Mehendi, tattoo, face painting and the stall selling handicrafts. There was a flash mob put up by the girls and boys of 5th, 6th and 7th. Exciting prizes and gift vouchers were given to the winners of the lucky draw.

There was a great variety of delicacies like – momos, kulfis, burgers, juices and lots more. A haunted house was arranged by the students which was a blast. By the end of the day when the last lucky draw winner was announced all of us looked back to an amazing day which was a grand success. The first carnival of our school was a blast. This was one of the best days of our school which we look back to – "Fiesta De Horizon"

ANNUAL DAY 2018

The time of the year had finally arrived when all of pre-primary filled with music beats matched by different dance moves emanated out from each class room. The theme this year being "it's all about dance", one can guess what it entailed. Dances of the world descended upon our very own stage of NHPS. Dances representing the respective countries were performed spectacularly by our little children. Truly heartening to see our little ones dance the Ballet, Ballroom, Flamenco, Hawaiian, Japanese, Samba, Mambo, African tribal & the classic Belly dancing. Each scene seemed to be a show by itself, what with the combination of dance, drama, costumes, props and the perfect timing of the light effects. Well, the teachers too gave a superbly synchronized dance fusion. All in all, the evening ended with proud parents taking back home, memories to last a lifetime.

WONDERLA TRIP

Children's day is awaited by most of the students as they take us to the best amusement park in Bangalore, South India , Wonder La. Here all the students are allowed to go to whichever ride they want to. The students enjoy complete freedom and it is a time to forget your worries and just have fun with friends.

At 6.30 am, I woke up with a sudden surge of excitement realizing that this was the day I had been waiting for since the first day of school. I took the school bus and reached school on time and saw tourist buses waiting to drive us 75 kms away to Wonder La. When I entered the school the excitement of the students could be felt by their body language. They spoke loudly and excitedly and people moved around unable to stand still. We all went and sat down in the bus chattering excitedly. The bus journey was exciting , most of us ate, chatted and took catnaps, saving up energy for the thrills ahead.

We reached Wonder La at about 11.00 am. Then we changed and we all trooped into the auditorium to listen to some safety regulations and rules. People were so eager to rush to the rides that when the guide told us to go, there was literally a stampede. We raced to the Wonder Splash, the most iconic ride of WonderLa and we were the first to use the ride. We went up and splashed down on the other side. The huge wave completely drenched us and when we got down we were dripping wet. But that did not stop us. We ran around going from one ride to another until it was time for lunch. Having ridden many rides like the Recoil, Hurricane, Insanity, Equinox and Y-Scream, we had satiated our hunger for the adrenaline rush.

But the cool, refreshing water rides awaited us two minutes away! We quickly gobbled up our lunch and ran to the water rides. We had a lot of fun! We zoomed down slides, spun around in crafts that floated lazily down the lazy river and we were drowned and smacked by the waves at the wave pool.

After coming out of the final water rides we were completely exhausted and starving. We somehow managed to change and came out tired. Before boarding the bus we bought drinks and some burgers. Once we were on the bus, we chatted and ate, but we never slept. We could still feel the adrenaline surging through our veins. Then our parents picked us up and we went home describing the day's fun and frolic to our parents. I am eagerly looking forward to our next year's trip to Wonder La.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT NHPS

School is just not about academics, but has a whole lot of fun and pleasure mixed in as well. This was experienced in abundance by the children of the Pre-Primary Division on 20th November 2018.

United Nations Universal Children's Day, a day dedicated to all the children of the world was celebrated right here at NHPS. The quadrangle sported a changed look with a Carousel, Ferris wheel and Mini Train. It was heartening to see anxious and over excited children waiting for their turn to enjoy each of the rides. Even the sweltering heat did not dampen their spirits. After the outdoor fun, the day of surprises was still not over for the children. A magic show awaited them in the school auditorium, where they were a part of numerous magic tricks performed by the magician. Back in the class, they were treated to a horde of goodies, which they quickly devoured. The end of the day had happy and contented children going back home anxious to tell their parents the stories of excitement in school that day.

THE FALLING STAR

On a chilly evening, after darkness had fallen, Lila hiked up to the top of the small hill near her house, every inch of her skin, except her face, covered with warm wool. She gazed at the night sky above her head, which was filled with sequin-silver stars, twinkling and dazzling like scattered moon dust in the sky. Lila had always imagined stars to be the grains of sand that had washed up on the shore. All of a sudden, she saw a bright point of yellow light moving rapidly across the sky, leaving a glowing trail of smoke behind it. For a second, she believed it to be an arrow of fire. Then realization struck her; it was a shooting star.

She lifted her hand to the sky, and pretended to hold the star in place. But the second the star came near her gloved hand, it stung her. She quickly fisted her hand and brought it near her to see what happened. She could not believe her eyes. There, sitting on the palm of her hand, was the star that had fallen mere seconds ago. It looked like a small citrine gem that she could turn into a pretty pendant, but she knew it was much more magnificent. She hurriedly put it in the pocket of her coat and rushed back home desperate to show her family the miracle that had just occurred.

As the little girl ran to her house, she could feel the burning heat of the star in her pocket. She was thrilled. Lila finally burst into the living room. She was very happy. She explained to her brother and parents what had happened. They were shocked at first, but soon they began to smile.

When she showed them the tiny star, they were amused at her. Her mother told Lila to release the star back into the sky, where it really belonged. Lila had known that this would be their reaction, ever since she found the star. Yet she begrudgingly went out to the yard, and released the star back into the atmosphere, where it shone brighter than the rest symbolising freedom.

HOPE

Growing up, Tara loved flowers. She loved how colourful, vibrant and fragrant they were. She would often stand outside the florist's shop and gaze at the beautiful bouquets and flower baskets. Looking at them, she would fantasize about fields of tulips and roses and that never failed to bring a smile upon her face. However, her smile did not last long as she came back to reality. Her mother was in the hospital, sick and weak as she was diagnosed with throat cancer.

Every day, Tara would pick wild flowers from the bushes around and take them to her mother. This was her favourite part of the day because it made her mother smile, which was a sight that gave Tara hope. For some time, both of them would forget about the illness.

Tara's mother's condition worsened with every passing day and to help cope with it, Tara would search for prettier, larger flowers. Her mother took a liking towards daisies. So Tara began to bring daisies for her mother. But in a few weeks, her mother died. Tara was heart-broken.

The pain was far too much for her to handle. Cancer had slowly killed her mother, increasing her suffering with each passing day. She decided that she would not let other families go through what she had gone through. So every single day since the death of her mother, Tara would bring daisies for each patient in the Cancer Ward. She would tell them about all the beautiful flowers she had seen and brighten their day. The smile on the patients' faces would give them hope. The nurse in the ward who took care of Tara's mother earlier would appreciate Tara's good gesture and bright spirit.

One day when Tara was picking daisies, she saw the nurse walking on the sidewalk. She went up to the nurse and gave her the flowers as she suddenly remembered how much the nurse had assisted her mother during tough times. She thanked her for all she had done - not just for her mother but for all the patients in the ward. The nurse said that it was more than just her duty, it was her passion.

As the nurse was crossing the road, she was suddenly hit by a car. Tara stood transfixed with horror. She ran towards the nurse, who was lying in a pool of blood. She told Tara that her small gesture brought happiness to the patients, Just as she said this, she stopped breathing with the daisies still in her hand.

Tara was devastated. She decided that from that moment, her aim would be to become a doctor and bring hope to those who had lost it.

HAFONIC

New Horizon Pre-University College hosted a three day cultural extravaganza "HAFONIC" on 22nd, 23rd and 26th November 2018 merging three themes, Halloween, Formals and Ethnic, taking the students to a jolly ride of a world of blood curdling to orthodoxy and traditional aura.

FORMALS

The succeeding day of HAFONIC celebrations, 23 November 2018 was a spectacular day in New Horizon Pre-University College. Our campus looked very different; it felt like I stepped into a professional and a corporate environment. Students were dressed in the internationally accepted Business western dress code. Clothing and the way we carry our self, portray our true character. Girls were dressed in formal skirts or dresses and the boys in their typical blazers. The day was set for a range of programs like Treasure Hunt, spotlight, solo dance, PUBG etc. The students put in their best exhibiting excellent skills and talents.

The Air crash program was held where students were disguised as various celebrities competing for a single parachute to dive down.

Along with the fun and frolic, the hosts filled the atmosphere with the essence of dialogues and songs from films. We also had some of our friends join us on stage enthusiastically jumping on their toes and dancing to the beats.

Our College cultural extravaganza was an amazing experience and the memories created during the festivities will remain with us for a lifetime. These special moments we shared with our "colleagues" friends and our "executives" teachers are truly eternal.

HALLOWEEN

This day marked the world of horror, celebrating Halloween. The students were dressed as demons- devils, vampires and monsters. Our college campus transformed itself in to a very spooky place.

To begin an event on an auspicious note, the Director Ms. Kirthi Manghnani inaugurated the ceremony, by the traditional lighting of the lamp.

The Halloween day was packed with a variety of events like Mystery Minds, the recent hit PUBG, face painting etc. The scary house was one captivating spot and the students sensed a spine chilling experience.

The day commenced with the fashion round where the students came forth to show off their attire.

This scary and terrifying extravaganza was a phenomenon in its own right. We did not notice it at first. We were too involved with our own costumes, candy and chatter but the chilly breeze that blew around the campus was the perfect enhancement to the spectacle. The make-up and sinister outfits left the people with their jaws dropping and eyes popping.

It left us speechless and it goes without saying that it was an episode that will be etched in our memories for years to come.

ETHNIC

"Our Culture, our Tradition and our Language are the foundations upon which we build our identity."

The Ethnic day was specially graced by the presence of our esteemed dignitaries, respected Chairman, Vice Chairman, Directors of New Horizon Group of Institutions, Principal of New Horizon PU College, Principal of New Horizon College Kasturinagar and the Guest for the day, the vivacious celebrity, Mr Pravin Raj Devasagayam. The 'ETHNIC DAY' was a blend of cultural and traditional blend of our country. It reminded us of the Unity in Diversity, which we normally read in books.

We saw girls draped in traditional sarees, lehengas, ghagharas and the boys in Veshti and pyjama kurta .The boys even wore jewelled turbans like those worn by kings in ancient times.

The event for the day began with Dandiya, which is the native dance of Gujarat, followed by the enlightening invocation dance .The students of New Horizon School joined us in the celebrations. Air crash was organized for them, where the students showcased their talents. JAM was organized and as a hilarious reversal, the boys were supposed to drape sarees and walk on the ramp. The highlight of the day was the Personality Check event which was hosted by the Guest for the day, Mr. Pravin Raj Devasagayam. His vibrant interaction with the students left the audience enthralled and awestruck. The event culminated with the fashion show.

Our Principal, Dr Sunita Hangal, the guiding light of 'Hafonic' was a constant motivation, whose pivotal role enabled us to make the event a success. Our sincere gratitude to our Director, Ms Kirthi Manghnani, for her valuable support and consent to make the event happen.

Our College cultural event was an astounding experience and the memories created during the festivities will remain forever. The exceptional moments we experienced with our "contemporaries", friends and our respectful teachers are everlasting. The students departed with the anticipation of the continuance of the heritage of 'Hafonic' forever at NHPUC.
